

Wayshowers Philosophysm

GUIDING LIGHT - Spiritual Theme of the Month

November 2022

CLARITY: There is a core from which I draw, in order to accomplish my purpose and achieve my goals; a place that is both pure and divine. Let's call it, Needs. When I pivot and move from my "needs," I am in-charge of my energy. I act on what is truly mine and what I came to fulfill. Life then becomes simpler and there is a clarity in what comes to me, as well as what I say and do. When I try to 'draw' from the outer for answers, I have troubles. I look to what others want, rather than what I need. I begin reacting based on fear, half-truths and manipulation. Everything quickly becomes mixed up, unclear — soon I am entangled with people and things I did not come to work with. The worst part of this is, my energy gets misused and I waste a great deal of time. However, I must always remember I have the power to do what I come to do. It is coming home to the clarity of my purpose and my aspirations; my needs.

DIRECTION: At no time am I without an inner compass. At no time am I without direction. I am my direction. From time to time, I can get bombarded with requests, guidelines and even 'strong suggestions' from people or from the systems in which I work or live. This can cover up my real direction, or create an illusion that I have lost it. This is where having an inner or outer sanctuary is important; a place where I can be with my spiritual helpers, to regroup . . . in order to move forward. Peace & Freedom are principles to help me rekindle my own direction. Anytime I am in doubt, I simply ask my guidance to help me with my direction. I then relax, trust and stay open to their inspiration. As things unfold to me, I stay involved, being of service the best I know how. I then incorporate and improve with every sign & insight I receive. "I am my direction." I am here to fulfill on my life purpose, in an abundant way.

BEING: I am more a way-shower, by my being, than anything else. Naturally, the example offset by my actions is very important, but it all flows from my being. There is a good barometer for how well I am maintaining myself, and that is contentment. "Contentment" is a key, if I want a deeper relationship with the Universe. It also helps me identify areas where I need to improve or refine. Sometimes I am not at my best; I'm 'trying' to be something or copy someone. That will show. Sometimes I am at my best; I have peace & freedom throughout my situations and in my relationships. That will show. I am communicating all the time, one way or another. So how do I want to be? It is up to me whether I am shining or diminishing, whether I see things as an adventure or a chore. I did not come here to dim the light of my being, I came to light-the-way.

LIBERATION: The more I examine the facts, the more it becomes clear, I live in two worlds at once; the spiritual and material. I will not become completely free until this is fully realized. Liberation to the soul is living life based on spiritual purpose. As I refine my vibration, through practice and service, I create freedom. This is the same vibration my spiritual helpers communicate with me. They are a tremendous example. Their purpose with me is all about liberation. I am in awe of how much love and respect they have for me. They are not afraid to pass on their wisdom, nor are they afraid to share tough-love; they know who I am, where I came from and where I am going. Independence & freedom are key principles they use to share guidance. I have everything I need to succeed and more. All that remains is to utilize what I have, into a positive service that people need and faithfully pass it on.

LEADERSHIP: Whether I am simply leading myself or leading others, it's my leadership that helps me move beyond. It has taken time to understand how important leadership is to my growth and advancement. Without it, I drift through life. For instance, I may know what I want, but until I lead myself toward it, I am a daydreamer. Instead of conjuring up things in my mind, I simply see leadership as a Decision. I decide for me, I am responsible for my "decision." My Spiritual Guidance are their own leaders. It is not a role they take on and take off; they decided who they are and lead the way. I know that, while available to all, not everyone is willing to do this, yet! But like me, they will one day follow their feelings into leadership. My guidance are helping me become a master of my energy. That is my Guiding Light and the light with which to inspire others.